Well.

This is all so friendly, that after a night to think about it, I think I will respond in writing. (This email is not it by the way.)

That said, I've already told you I would not perform any priesthood functions. Why then would you convene a women's council?

It seems that using a women's council merely as a way to justify gossip would be an obvious abuse, wouldn't you agree?

"After fasting and prayer" this is what you come up with?!

How do you rank yourselves so far with the use of your power?

To be honest with you, I think I'd rather be LDS again. At least they tried to call such things: "courts of love."

Yeh, we all know that's laughable, but let's not try to outdo them, shall we?

Before we begin Are the guidelines (and timelines) you're imposing upon me "stipulated in 157?"
