

EXHIBIT I

Fourth Response from MIQ to Council 1/15/24 7:48pm MST

Greetings,

Several women are requesting we meet at 2 pm on Sunday, and not at 9 am as discussed. Please respond as to whether that works for your schedule or not.

Also, yesterday, after adjourning from the Council, Jennifer [Bowler] and I received an email (below) from [MIQ] in response to our letter that was sent to him on Thursday night at 11:40 pm. This is the fourth email he has sent in response to the initial letter. The previous three responses were read out loud by me in the council. Here is the email received yesterday after the council:

[MIQ's 4th email response to Women's Council Organizers]

On Jan 15, 2024, at 11:49 AM, [MIQ] <_____>
wrote:

You have given me a timetable I cannot meet.

Do you have a reason to hasten this process?

Is anyone in immediate danger because of me?

Is there a reason you do not want me present at the women's council held on my behalf?

I would like to be there in person, but I am not going to force the issue.

I am not very good at writing. My written words often get misunderstood.

If you decide to proceed without me, please send me a recording.

With Love,

[MIQ]

Sent from my iPhone

Despite this, his second declination to respond to our questions by email or audio file, Jennifer [Bowler] wrote a letter today inviting him again to respond before we reconvene next Sunday. That is what we voted on as a council yesterday (to send out another invitation), so she will be sending that out to all of you tonight for your review and input.

In the meantime, here (below) are the previous three responses he sent to Jennifer and me. I have copied and pasted them here in one document for your review:

[MIQ's responses are listed above this email so they can be viewed in the order the Women's council organizers received them].